"Build-Up" Relief Explained to Women

A simple method has saved many women a lot of suffering!

It is based on the fact that headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain are often symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition.

Help for this condition so often follows the use of CARDUI, because it usually increases the appetite and the flow of gastric juice; thus aids digestion and helps build physical resistance. Usual result is less periodic distress.

Many who take CARDUI a few days before and during "the time" have found this helps ease periodic discomfort. Women have used CARDUI for more than 50 years!

Newport News Shipyard Sold To Syndicate

A Wall Street syndicate has been announced as the successful bidder for the controlling stock of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company, one of the largest naval and merchant ship construction companies in the United States. The stock has been owned by heirs of the late Collis P. Huntington, pioneer Pacific Coast railroad builder and founder of the shipyard. It has been indicated there would be no change in the operating management or policies of the big plant at Newport News, which now holds merchant ship and naval contracts aggregating more than $100,000,000 and is giving employment to more than 10000 workers. The sale price for the shipyard companies stock was not disclosed.

Make The Farm Make The Living

While it is true that a certain amount of cash is necessary for the farmer and farm women for the purchase of things that cannot be raised on the farm, such as staple groceries, clothes and education etc. It is equally true that practically every farm owner or operator spends money for things that can be raised on the farm, or in the orchard or garden. A live-at-home campaign has been one of the objectives of the extension division for the last few years and has been a means of saving money for farmers and housekeepers in some sections of the state, but there are still entirely too many farm folks who are paying out good money for necessities, and even, luxuries they can raise at home if they will only give a little time and thought to it.

To help with this all important aid to better and more comfortable living, the extension division has reprinted bulletin, No. 245, "Make the Farm Make the Living." In a few words to this bulletin Director John R. Hutcheson says:

"During the last quarter of a century the business of farming has become increasingly speculative. To the old hazards of insect pests, diseases and weather have been added the hazards of foreign trade, monetary policies and regulation of production by industry and labor. Farming is particularly speculative this year, due to the war in Europe and Asia, and already our markets for tobacco and fruits have been seriously affected.

"Due to these many factors, at planting time this year, few Virginia farmers will have any idea what their crops will bring at harvest. Therefore, farmers who depend upon the money received from the sale of one or two crops to purchase food for the family or feed for the livestock may find themselves next fall without sufficient funds for such purposes. Such a condition would result in malnutrition, inefficiency and unhappiness. Members of such families will either go in debt, go on relief or go hungry.

"However, this is a condition which most Virginia farmers can prevent if they plan intelligently. Even on very small farms there is enough land for a good garden, a small flock of poultry, two cows and three hogs. Larger farms can produce fruits, the family bread supply and ample hay and pasture for the livestock. Although our farmers may have a small share of the national wealth, it is within their power to have the largest share of the national health.

"Fortunately the AAA program for 1940 is well adapted to a live-at-home program and it is suggested that every Virginia farmer carefully study this program in making his plans for this year. General participation in the AAA program will not only insure better living conditions in farm homes but at the same time build up our soils and help fit production to consumptive demands.

"The purpose of this bulletin is to call forcibly to the attention of Virginia farmers the desirability of making ample provision for food and feed supplies this year and to give helpful suggestions as to how such supplies may be provided on the average farm. Further information may be secured through the county farm and home demonstration agents or by writing to the Extension Division at Blacksburg, Va."

Some of the subjects handled in this bulletin are: how to have a good vegetable garden, plenty of milk and butter; an adequate milk supply; farm poultry and fruits; also a simplified canning budget and plans for adequate storage.

Keep this plan up for 30 days. Then weigh yourself and see if you haven't lost pounds of ugly fat. Just see if this doesn't prove to be the surprise of your life and make you feel like shouting the good news to other fat people.
